SYMPATHETIC STRIKE SET FOR NEXT TUESDAY

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, April 8.—All efforts by Premier Lloyd George to bring the miners and mine owners together to discuss the differences which led to the strike in the coal fields having failed, the miners' executive committee went into conference this afternoon with their partners in the triple alliance, the transport workers and railwaymen, to decide when members of the allied organizations should be called out in a sympathy strike. Leaders of the transport workers and railwaymen decided this morning upon a strike, and this brings the entire power of the "triple alliance of labor" into the greatest industrial controversy in England for many years.

The natorium is nearby and after each game the players can indulge in a refreshing swim in the largest tank in the state of Nevada.

Mr. Kirchen, who loves nature's trees and songbirds, has just planted 100 trees in the Victor park, and proposes to make that the garden spot of southern Nevada. The mine companies have responded heartily with their interest and aid in securing their individual company baseball teams, equipping them with caps, bats, balls, masks, etc. Manager John Kirchen said this morning: "Give the boys plenty of good, healthy recreation, physical sport and congenial companionship, and all will be lovely." He also said that anything he could do to make the people of Tonopah happy, if it lay in his power he would readily lend his aid. I am now up to the league club to look over the new ball grounds.

MRS. N. L. SCHADE DIES IN DENVER

Word was received in Tonopah last evening that Mrs. N. L. Schade, wife of Undersheriff N. L. Schade, had passed away in Denver. This esteemed lady had resided in Tonopah with her husband for many years, and left here about 15 months ago for her mother's home at Galesburg, Illinois, where she hoped the change of climate would result in restoring her former good health. The change of residence caused no remedy to Mrs. Schade's health, and she, realizing the inevitable, desired to return to Tonopah to be with her husband when the end came. She stopped at Denver to visit with relatives and was taken suddenly worse Wednesday night, passing away last evening. Mr. Schade, upon receipt of a wire that his wife was sinking rapidly and could not survive many hours, left yesterday morning, and received the sad news of her death at Hazen. The deceased lady was universally loved by all her acquaintances in Tonopah for her kind disposition and charitable acts, and the sympathy of this community is extended to the bereaved husband in the loss of his life's associate. The remains will be accompanied by Mr. Schade to Galesburg, Illinois, where the funeral will be held.

SOON START ON HIGHEST DAM

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 8.—The highest dam in the world, to join the states of Nevada and Arizona, and harness turbulent waters of the Colorado river for extended irrigation in the southwest, is to be constructed in the near future by the United States reclamation service.

The dam, according to tentative plans, would rise to the unprecedented height of 500 or 600 feet in Boulder canyon, where granite abutments rise more than 1000 feet above the water surface. Engineers of the reclamation service, afloat on barges, are now boring for bedrock beneath. A lake varying from 20 to 50 miles in length would be backed up in the Colorado and Virgin rivers, and in this basin would be held in check for irrigation the drainage from almost the entire Colorado river basin, including parts of six states.

The proposed structure would be higher by far than the world's highest dam at present—Arrowrock dam, on the Boise river, Idaho, which measures 348 feet, and would top other famous dams in the United States.

If some apartment house owners ever get to heaven they are going to be mighty uncomfortable with so many children there.

APPEALS FOR RELIEF FOR GOLD PRODUCERS

(By Associated Press)
PORTLAND, Ore., April 8.—That some of the greatest gold mines of the nation will be beyond redemption unless legislation giving them assistance is quickly passed, was declared by W. J. Loring, San Francisco, president of the American Mining Congress, in a paper read before the third annual international mining convention here today.

"It is appalling to note that the production of gold in 1919 was $96,260,000, in 1915 $101,050,000, and in 1920 $49,509,000," said Mr. Loring. "Now, then, what is going to happen if this depletion of the gold production continues? Of course, at that rate, one might say that in another 10 years there would be no gold production in the United States, but that would be wrong. There will be some gold production, no matter what the conditions are, and there is no doubt that, unless something is done to stimulate the gold production of the United States, the production will drop materially below the production of 1920."

In his opinion it is quite an unnecessary reduction if we all stand together and support a measure that will keep gold mining on the map in this country. It does not matter whether it is the McFadden bill or a measure bearing some other name, so long as its purpose is the stimulation of gold production in our country.

"I happen to be a gold producer to the extent of the neighborhood of $2,000,000 annually, and I can tell you that it is a very real and a very real thing to the mining property those days and make both ends meet."

The great difficulty I find is that operations which paid handsomely prior to the war will not pay expenses at the present time and the large tonnages of low grade ore that were worked at a profit before the war have had to be abandoned, and in many cases these tonnages will never be recovered because the workings have caved and no one would have the heart to go back into these old mines and reopen them under any circumstances. Unless relief is given within a very short time more of these reserves of low grade ore will be lost forever. The properties that I am managing boast of several million tons of low grade ore that would pay from $1.50 per ton and upward profit with pre-war conditions, but with conditions as they exist now, there is no hope whatever of even considering the working of these tonnages referred to.

"They contain hundreds of thousands of ounces of gold and it would appear to me to be a crime to allow this gold to remain in the ground when our nation must certainly require it."

Mr. Loring gave an outline of the proposed workings of the McFadden bill under which the producer would receive from the government $20.67 per ounce for gold and a certificate entitling him to $10 per ounce additional. Funds for the redemption of the certificates would be obtained by the government requiring jewelers to charge five cents a pennyweight, or $10 an ounce, for gold contained in every article sold. Mr. Loring urged support of this measure.

GOOD TIMES FOR METAL INDUSTRY EXPECTED SOON

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, April 8.—The mining industry in the west will see a resumption of business within the next six months, John T. Burns, secretary of the American Mining Congress, announced today, following a two months' trip through the western states.

Gold, copper and lead mines are practically closed down now, and there are a number of silver mines that are contemplating closing owing to lack of any market, but there is unbounded confidence on all sides that with the resumption of business in general the metal industry will receive its share, and I believe that by next October you will see it picking up all along the line," said Mr. Burns.
